NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO MOTHERS.

In a country where the rearing of infants is attended with somewhat exceptional difficulties and risk owing partly to climatic reasons, and partly to the difficulty of getting medical assistance in the 'camp,' an apology is hardly needed for publishing a small hand-book on the subject for the use of mothers. In Dr. Pennel's book on Infant Feeding an attempt has been made to explain in simple terms the reasons on which the various rules and recommendations are based, in order that a mother in modifying her child's diet from time to time as required, may be guided by common sense and not by the hundred and one conflicting counsels, with which she will be assailed. On sale at all bookstalls and libraries.

In Paysandú the barraca of Juan Carzolio has been burned down-loss fifteen thousand dollars, insured for ten.

5 stevedores were sunstruck while working in harbour and died immediately.

The strike of stevedores is practically over and many of the men have resumed work.

Government has resolved to suppres the post of Commander of the frontier and withdraw the troops there stationed. This step is taken in view of the pacification of Rio Grande.

There is a rumour that that State will endeavour to separate from Brazil. Probably a "canard". In Govt. circles it is rumoured that there is some truth in the telegram received by the Diario of your city in regard to Glyn Mills Currie having made a loan to Uruguay of one million pounds. The president when questioned on the subject smiled mysteriously but made no reply.

Count Antonelli, the Italian Minister has obtained from Government the payment of sixty thousand pesos owed to the Italian Navigation Company for assisted immigrant-passages. Government got a reduction of five thousand pesos as a gratification for fulfilling the contract.

The Swedish Consul Mr. Roberg, gave a breakfast and reception in honor of King Oscar's birthday.

Three hundred and fifty thousand Mauser cartridges have arrived for Government. This is the third shipment. The police are to be armed with Mauser instead of Remington and orders have been given to deliver to the chief of police eight hundred Mausers and one hundred and sixty thousand cartridges.

We have had three days of terribly hot weather. The only cool spot to be found was at Pocitos. One was tempted to pass half there and do all eating and drinking on the breezy terrace overlooking the water. A large number of people are staying at the hotel which is well kept and moderatein price. I wonder that more Porteños in need of cool sea breezes and an outing do not take the pleasant trip on the new line of steamers and pass a few days at Pocitos. It is a long railway journey to Mar del Plata.

One thing that the traveller for Buenos Aires misses sadly is the refreshing Quilmes beer. Here the three Breweries have formed a Trust and only one of them is working. As there is no competition the Trust makes what beer it likes and after two months absortion of Quilmes I found it undrinkable. It is impossible to import beer from Buenos Aires as the expense of transport and duties amount to about twenty two cents gold a bottle which, added to the original cost and the profit of the importer make the beer more expensive than good Italian wine.

The Pavilion 'Patronato Damas' sold for three hundred and seventy five dolls., it cost two thousand five hundred. Each of the smaller Kiosks brought twenty nine dollars. We are well rid of this unpopular Kermess e which has been a dead failure from begining to end.

Mr. Conrad Hughes, a well-known estanciero at Paysandú has died of aneurism of the heart.

United Kingdom

London, 22nd—To-day's Standard publishes the news of the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg, which occurred at Cape Coast Castle, Sierra Leone. The Prince succumbed to a severe attack of fever.

General Baratieri has received a despatch from Lieut. Colonel Galliano, commander of Makalle garrison, announcing that the Abyssinians have captured the wells, filling them up with earth. The soldiers in the garrison are digging for water and expect to strike a spring.

It is firmly believed here that Galliano will have to abandon Makalle.

The presence of the Italian Ambassador at the banquet given by Mr. Chamberlain has created a favourable impression in London. Mr. Chamberlain in drinking the Italian Minister's health stated that the English nation admired the bravery displayed by the Italian troops. The Secretary's speech was greeted with loud applause.

Sir John Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, declared last night at a political meeting that England's intentions with regard to Foreign Questions were most pacific. He declared that the flying squadron would not trouble any Power, and that the organization of the squadron is only meant for action in case of an emergency.

The news of the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg has been confirmed by an official telegram from Cape Coast Castle. The sad news has caused a most painful impression all over the country.

A telegram from Melbourne reports serious encounters yesterday and to-day between Australian and Chinese working men, with killed and wounded on both sides. Government has resolved to limit in future the immigration of coolies, as it has not given the result expected.

All this morning's papers approve warmly of Mr. Chamberlain's speech last night. When alluding to Germany's course in the Transvaal question, the Secretary for the Colonies said that now, as always, England had shown that she can maintain her rights without allowing any foreign Power to meddle with her. This statement and his friendly expressions towards Italy were received with loud cheers.

There is a rumour that the French Government has decided to reinforce the garrison at Obock on the Red Sea, as there is some agitation amongst the native tribes in the vicinity.

From Cairo comes the report that Arab marauding-bands are raiding the country in Southern Egypt, near Wadi-Halfa. The native papers make this the excuse to reproach the British authorities and accuse then of being incapable of maintaining order, and all insist with greater vehemence than ever on the necessity for inducing England to withdraw her troops from Egyptian territory.

The latest telegram from Cape Coast Castle states that Prince Henry of Battenberg died on Monday night on board the vessel that was to take him to Madeira and when it was thought that he had almost completely recovered.

A telegram from Constantinople announces the assassination in Van of the Armenian Bishop Baghas.

France

Paris, 22nd—The Figaro declares that it has received a telegram announcing the downfall of Makallé garrison. According to the Figaro the garrison has been in the hands of the Abyssinian troops since Sunday last.

The remains of the late M. Charles Floquet were interred to-day. The funeral was very largely attended by Ministers, Members of the Legislature and the general public.

The many speeches at the grave-side bore eloquent testimony to the services rendered during his life-time to the Republic by the deceased Statesman.

Germany

Berlin, 22nd—The evening papers categorically deny that there is any truth in the rumours current this morning to the effect that Prince Bismarck was seriously ill.

When the rumour reached this morning the ears of the Emperor he at once telegraphed to Friedrichsruhe, but received the reply that the report was perfectly false.

Spain

A telegram from Havana states that the Royal troops have surprised the insurgent column under Maceo and forced them to retire leaving 27 dead on the field of battle. The Spanish loss was 2 killed

United States

Washington, 22nd—The hostile policy of Brazil and Argentina? towards England is attracting the Government's attention. It is expected that Argentina and Brazil will give some explanation of their hostile conduct.

A fight between Spanish troops and Cuban rebels ocurred near Pinar del Pino yesterday. The rebels were finally forced to retreat.

The rebels continue devastating the Province of Matanzas.

Italy

Rome, 22nd—A despatch received today from Adagamus states that on Monday last commissioner Felter had held a conference with the Negus Menelik, at which General Baratieri's definite reply was handed to the Abyssinian Potentate to the proposals for peace made by him. Nothing in known of the result of the mission.

The Minister of Public Instruction, Signor Baccelli, has accepted the presidency of the commission eutrusted with the work of erecting in Paris a monument to the memory of M. Pasteur.

Russia

St. Petersburg. 22nd—The telephone line between this Capital and Moscow will shortly be opened to public service.

Rio Janeiro, 22nd—Thirty one cases of yellow fever occurred yesterday.

The Italian cruiser Lombardia leaves for Isla Grande to-morrow for target practice.

The price of fresh meat will be considerably increased in a few days.

The press is beginning to favour the Cuban revolution.

Chile

Valparaiso, 22nd—Dr. Quirno Costa arrived at Los Andes yesterday. La Union sent a reporter to interview Dr. Costa, but the latter promptly dismissed him.

Barros Arana has not decided on accepting the proposed banquet offered to him.

A great sensation has been caused by the announcement in one of the leading papers that the Argentine Minister is bearer of an ultimatum from the Argentine Government demanding a declaration from the Chilian Government, within a term of 15 days (others say 60 days) whether it supports the theories of Barros Arana or abides by the treaties of 1881 and 1893!!!

Dr. Rocha arrived at Antofagasta and is expected in Iquique on Saturday morning.

Exchange on London is quoted at 17 ⅛.

Rosario, 22nd—A rise is expected in the price of cereals.

The present price of wheat is $6.60.

Few operations in linseed are reported.

THE ASHANTEE VICTORY.

The latest news from this new English territory is both interesting and amusing; Colonel Scott, who commands the British forces, seems to be a man of the right stamp and who stands no nonsense: he has captured the Boy King Prempeh who, it may be remembered, ascended the Golden Stool seven years ago at the age of 14. He has marched the King with his wives, and wives' mothers to Cape Coast Castle and holds them now as hostages until his youthful majesty pays up or makes some arrangement for the payment of the expenses of the war. The funny part of the business is that Colonel Scott will in all probability have to take payment "In Kind" that is to say in Ashantee young girls, which, according to the statement of an English estanciero in Cordoba, who has recently arrived from Africa, were selling in Coomassie "por mayor" at five shillings a head, and "por menor" from two pounds ten to ten pounds each.

The opening of this Ashantee country to the British public means more than what most people think. General Wolseley who has been all over that country, at least as far as the white man has set foot, is perhaps the only man in England who thoroughly knows the value of Ashantee to the British Empire, and but for Wolseley we should have had a repetition of the lackadaisical nonsense of an English Resident established in Coomassie with a handful of troops to protect him which was what the King's agents in London proposed to the English Government, but Lord Wolseley saw through the dodge and organized the present expedition, so admirably fitted up and carried out, that the King knuckled down before a shot was fired. Ashantee is a far older country than the Transvaal and far richer than Venezuela: the climate in the interior is more salubrious than on the coast, and before another year is about there will probably be a new departure in that country that will push Coomassie ahead and make it another Johannisburg. Scotchmen who are now ploughing the fields in Ayrshire and Irishmen, who are planting potatoes in Kildare, will soon be making their fortunes in the Gold Hills in Ashantee, and we give our readers the following further particulars of this new British territory, which have cost us a good deal of time and trouble to collect, as we have gone through every book in Mr. Jacobsen's store to find out something new about the place:—

The Government, laws and customs of Ashantee are not as in Dahomey a mere despotism, but a strong Monarchy somewhat restrained by the privileges of a feudal aristocracy whose members are called Caboceers, and are consulted by the King upon foreign affairs because their co-operation is needful to carry on war. He does not generally convene either the assembly of Caboceers or that of the captains to debate upon matters of civil government of the Kingdom; but in deliberating upon an important judicial sentence or the enactment of a new law, he will frequently invite a few chosen counsellors of both those classes to give him their private advice. The remarkable Ashantee law of succession to the throne, or to the stool as it is called, of Royalty we described in a former issue. The revenues of his Majesty are great for the number of his subjects. He receives monthly or yearly tributes from many fertile provinces, taxes from the numerous crooms or villages throughout his dominion, tolls and customs dues upon trade the produce of gold fields in Denkera Assin and Akim, with a portion of the gold from the mines of Gaman, the sweepings of gold dust from the market place at Coomasie, a tax on all gold ornaments worn by the nobles; and finally at the death of every man or woman in Ashantee all the gold that belongs to the deceased becomes the property of the King. He has therefore always plenty of treasure for the purpose either of rewarding his servants or bribing others, or for the expenses of a war. But very large sums are squandered in displays of barbaric pomp and in monstrous orgies that attend each Grand Custom or state festival, as well as the funeral ceremonies performed on the death of any Prince or relative to the King. The customs and funerals both in Ashantee and in the neighbouring kingdom of Dahomey are characterised by inconceivable excesses of divelish ferocity and debasing intoxication on a wholesale scare promoted by the priests of a baneful superstition. They are countenanced by the rulers of the state probably as convenient means of giving vent safely to the lowest passions of the vulgar and diverting the popular mind from affairs of social interest. This policy reminds us very much of that which prescribed the no less horrible exhibitions of slaughter in the capital and other cities of the Roman Empire; while the established religion of Fetish of the Ashantee's though it lacks the adornment of an exquisite poetical fancy and the perfect sculptures of Greek art, is not more irrational or more immoral than that of the ancient heathen world..

The Ashantee's are reported to believe in the existence of a Supreme God but that He has discarded the negro race from his favour, because their first progenitors on earth made a wrong and silly choice. Three black men and their black wives and three white couples at the same time were created by the Almighty Maker. They slept and awoke in the morning to find a closed box and a folded paper laid upon the ground before them. The Lord bade each party to choose. The negroes took the box expecting it to contain everything they could want or desire. But it contained only a piece of gold and some pieces of iron and other metals which they did not know how to use. The white men chose the paper which was covered with written knowledge. By this God taught the white men to build a ship and sail to Europe where by the same teaching they studied and practised the arts and sciences. Now come the white men back as traders, and armed masters, to deal with the black men as they please. But the Ashantee head may have as good brains in it as the European, and his limbs have as good muscle; so that when he gets the same knowledge he expects to be able to take care of himself, and let us hope that he will do so.

Meanwhile until he gets the better knowledge of Christianity this unhappy black man of western Africa considers himself an exile from divine favour, which he measures only by the amount of comfort bestowed upon mankind in their earthly life. The negro in this general condition is a slighted or disgraced child of the Universal Father. Only the kings and princes or Caboceers or nobles who are so manifestly privileged with superior happiness by the gift of God here below, will enjoy after their decease, if the funeral rites be duly performed, a renewal of their dignified existence in a future Elysium which seems to be exactly like that of the Homeric creed. The spirits of the wise and virtuous dead become guardian angels and monitors or mediators for the welfare of those who believe in their beneficial presence. But the souls of inferior men fall into a torpi dozing eternal laziness which the common negro likes better than any other state in life; and it is considered that the majority of whites are to be provided for in the same manner when they have put off their difference of skin by the inevitable doom of mortality. Such is the religious philosophy of the Ashantees and of most of the other nations in Guiana but combined with a belief similar to that which prevailed likewise in ancient Greece, Syria and Italy concerning the existence of innumerable minor deities. These are of local and special powers, dwelling for instance in particular rivers, woods or mountains, or managing certain operations of nature, or inspiring an oracle at the venerated shrine, all which again is very like the classic superstition of antiquity. Each family of rank has its Lares and Penates, its ancestral and household divinities, to which sacrifices and libations are duly offered. The word fetish denotes every object or influence of religious awe, an idol, a talisman, a charm, an oath, or any prohibition or restriction for fear of the gods. Wizards, soothsayers and necromancers have much power and profit in Ashantee. They meet indeed, the competition of a rival class of impostors, the Moors or low Mohammedan strangers who do a brisk trade in amulets or parchment inscribed with Arabic sentences, by which the bearer trusts to be secured against wounds, diseases, losses and all the ills of life. These are worn by the soldiers in battle and help to fortify their great native courage. The atrocious practice of offering human sacrifices to the hateful deities of this savage nation and to the names or souls of friends recently dead is the worst feature of the negro character. Not only criminals, political enemies, prisoners of war, but inoffensive people and free men as well as slaves may be taken indiscriminately for the victims of this dreadful custom.

AFRICA UNVEILED.

In a country like South America, where the unreclaimed lands abandoned to a state of primeval solitude might under a system of intelligent cultivation support the entire human race, it is difficult to understand the earth-hunger which impels modern diplomatists to throw the might of civilized Nations into the scale, to secure the possession of a barren islet or a tract of howling wilderness—as yet of no practical value to anyone. Day after day the electric fluid flashes but one message from North, South, East and West of the land of Ham. Which reads in letters of fire: "The conquest of a Continent". If history repeats itself, and civilisation returns to Africa once more, then she will only receive what in ancient times she bestowed upon the people of the West. History recordeth that most of the modern civilized institutions of which we are so vain had their origin or counterpart at least three thousand years ago in the land of the Nile; year after year, for thousands of years of the recorded history of our race, the sandhills at Suez have resounded to the neigh of the war-horse, and the sound of the trumpet, while the horse and foot of the armed hosts of ancient Egypt and the sable warriors of Ethiopia trooped by on their way to the North. It is a curious fact that nearly all indigenous civilizations almost without exception, have originated in hot climate.

As for example: Egypt. Saba, Assyria, India, Ceylon, Mexico, Perú and Yucatan. In connection with the North African races, the Darwinian theory of the survival of the fittest has a somewhat doubtful application. Their brilliant intellects "originated" a civilisation while our forefathers were masticating boar's flesh in the limestone caverns of Great Britain. We have simply borrowed and elaborated. To describe even in the briefest way the attempts which have been made to penetrate the mysteries of the "Dark Continent" would require volumes. Cambyses failed, with half a million men, to conquer the Maerobian Ethiopians in the land of Spices, the modern Somali-land. Up to the end of the fifteenth century, it may be said that Europeans knew almost nothing of Africa. This is to a great extent owing to the fact that the coast line from Cape Guardafui to the Gambia is the wildest and most desolate imaginable. East, West and Central Africa are fertile and beautiful in comparison with most countries. But in the writer's opinion, having seen a good deal of the world, Southern Abyssinia and the Galla countries stretching away to the lake districts, are unequalled in loveliness and magnificence of scenery, perfection of climate and average productiveness. The country may be described as a vast table land, at an elevation of from five to eight thousand feet above sea level, alternated by mountain ranges, rivers, valleys and mountain, lakes. At present the subdivision of Africa between the different European powers is complete—on paper." Abyssinia is regarded as being within the Italian sphere of influence. But it will require an enormous cost of men and money to make that influence a practical reality. It don't appear to count for much, as yet at all events, when the other day Ras Makunen was able to concentrate a large force for the attack on the Italian port at Makulla, something like six hundred miles from his own head-quarters in Southern Abyssinia.

On the Zanzibar Coast, England is pledged to build a railway—actually in course of construction—from Mombasa to the shores of the Victoria Nyanza, a distance of six hundred and forty miles, through very fertile country.

An immense area to the North of this projected line is as yet unexplored.

Immediately South of Mombasa and Mount Kilima-njaro, we have the concession of the German East African Company. Then the old Portuguese settlements line the coast as far as Delagoa bay. Up to the present date, however the only practical colonization by the white race, has been at the Cape, where the European element have been steadily gaining ground, and have advanced their outposts right up to the Zambesi.

This is the only case of bona-fide settlement in the whole continent. In every other instance where the European flag flies we simply find a governing element which has gained its footing by force of arms, and few missionaries and traders complete the list of European residents. Even the troops in most cases are recruited from the native element.

In Algeria, too, the French have made some progress. The settlements on the West Coast do not count for much. The African will never die out before the approach of the white race. He is brimful of vitality, as he has proved on many an occasion. He is as obstinate as a mule, as brave as a lion, and, moreover, has a very high opinion of himself. He is light-hearted, and merry alike in prosperity and adversity. From one end of the continent to the other, in the early hours of the night, one may hear in every village the clapping of hands keeping time to the dance, the shrill lulli-looing of the women and the beat of the tom-toms.

There is, of course, a great difference between the tribes of Ethiopian extraction, who rarely extend south of the Equator, and the pure Aboriginal negroes. As far as we have been able to penetrate the mists of a hoary antiquity, the probabilities are that the negroes are the oldest African race, while the Ethiopians have a common origin with the people of the Arabian province of Yemen—the modern descendants of the ancient Labeans.

The minute trivial sub-divisions have in some parts produced curious results. In travelling in East Central Africa, a day's journey is generally sufficient at any point to take you into the territory of a tribe speaking a totally different language. Slavery is rapidly dying out. In fact, it never existed to any extent until the advent of unscrupulous European traders made slave trading more profitable than ivory hunting. The chivalrous action of England in her efforts to suppress the slave trade is one of the bright spots in her National history which will be remembered for all time. Africa certainly has a great future. There is room for all—even although the present population is roughly estimated at two hundred millions. The natural resources of the continent are equal to the support of two hundred times two hundred millions.

LETTERS FROM THE SALADO.

IX.

«Le bonheur complet n'est pas de ce monde.»
F. Simonnet. ('Courrier de la Plata' December 31st, 1895.)

Of all the nasty, horrid, nauseous and loathing things I have ever been called upon to eat "aguara's" meat is the most nasty, horrid, nauseous and loathing. Not that it is deficient in taste, quite the contrary. There is only too much of a rich, savage, musky savour about it, but..who could describe it?

I was strolling along the shore this morning looking for a heron or a stray nutria, (game is scarce about here), when I saw rushing on at a mad gallop a 'bagual', a wild horse chased by a "ginete". Just as they came opposite to me on the other side of the river, the man threw his 'bolas', but somehow or other the "bagual" disentangled himself before he could come up. The hunter was reaching for his weapon when he caught sight of me. Instead of shouting. "How do you do? It's a fine day, isn't it?" he jumped from his horse before I could wink and hid behind a "tacurú". This seemed rather a cold greeting; so I did the same on my side of the river. And there we bided time, crouching down. I peeped through the "paja" to see what I could see, and I have no doubt he did the same on his side.

The man was evidently a white man, (I speak as to race, I won't be answerable for the colour), he had a rifle, a black beard, and wore white man's clothes. It struck me that the situation could not last for ever, and recollecting that "gauchos" as a rule, are but indifferent shots, I rose from behind my ant-hill, and walking to the shore, threw with a magnificent gesture my gun away in the grass. (It is true I kept ready in my hand behind my back my revolver, in which I had more confidence than in the Commercial Traveller.).

"Good morning", I shouted. "Won't you come out? Yours is the first stranger's face I have seen for many a day".

Then slowly in his turn emerged from among the Gynereum my antagonist. He came to the shore and we exchanged a few words across the river. He said the Estancia was only six leagues away. He was hunting wild horses with a companion.

I invited him to partake of some roasted "aguará", but he did not seem enraptured by the offer, said he must go after his "bagual", and so went.

He captured the horse later in the day, a splendid "bayo", which I saw afterwards at Don Pablo's, on which occasion I observed with surprise how easily and speedily it was tamed, much more so than an ordinary 'potro.'

Night closes in. A storm is brewing. My companions, (it was yesterday they started) haven't come yet, but, in the far west, a huge fire is burning.

"It must be a signal" I say to myself. "The wind is in my favour, I will answer it, to show them that I am still here."

I walked some hundred paces away and put fire to the Pampa. Hardly had I done so when the wind, with a roar, veered right round the horizon, the storm burst, and the flames began to devour the high paja, rushing with alarming velocity towards the toldo, under shelter of which I had put our luggage. I ran as fast as my feet allowed me and succeded in saving the furs and the powder, but some clothes we had were burnt. So was my hair.

The next morning arrived my companions with some peones. Don Pablo had sent his own horse and saddle for my relief. We hid the canoa and furs the best way we could, then, after a cheering breakfast, a two hours' ride brought us to the Estancia.

The Salado is dammed. At the Estancia Independencia a large dam bars it from shore to shore, forming a reservoir in times of drought. There are several such higher up. This is why I said in my first letter that it scarcely deserves to be called a river in ordinary times.

We went to San Cristobal to purchase a new store of provisions, leaving the Otterkiller at the Estancia. However, a few days afterwards, he made his appearance at San Cristobal, wearing a blank face, and reported that the Indians had made a raid on the Estancia, stolen some hundreds of cattle, destroyed our canoa and carried away the furs.—As for stealing cows, I know well this is a weakness Indians are prone to, but as for the remainder I cannot help having some misgivings about the peones of the Estancia, who know well the value of furs. But I have no ground on which to base my suspicions.

The skipper would not give in. He had a new canoa made in San Cristobal. When this was ready, I went to give it a trial on a neighbouring laguna, (laguna Cabral) with the Otterkiller and a young citizen of San Cristobal. I sprained my ankle in jumping from the cart, so had to remain by the camp fire, whilst my companions went navigating. They pulled on a mile or so, then stranded the boat and roamed about on foot in search of game. A cartridge happened to be too large for the breech loader and stuck in the barrel. In order to get it out, the young citizen from San Cristobal ingeniously hammered on it with his knife, the Otterkiller looking on. It exploded in their faces.

I beheld them with wonder as they came tottering back arm in arm, lurching considerably in their gait, and crying out they were both blinded. This was, after examination, proved to be an exaggeration, but indeed their eyes were in a sad state.

I thought it humane to take care of two "cristianos" before looking after a canoa. I brought them back to San Cristobal that very night. That same night a storm came on that swelled considerably the waters of the laguna Cabral. The Canoa disappeared and was not to be found again.—(I have been told since, however, that a neighbouring proprietor finds it very handy.)

"The game is up, my masters," said the skipper. "Hideous bankruptcy is staring us in the face. Let every carancho to his rancho until we begin again."

Thus ended our excursion.

"Until we begin again," farewell, gentle readers, the skipper salutes you.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

The modern navy of the United States, so far as it includes battleships, monitors, and cruisers, armoured or protected, consists of about two dozen vessels. Of these, nearly every one which is ready for service is already in commission, and, therefore, an examination of the present distribution and force of the United States squadrons should give a rough but fair estimate of the strength of the fleet.

The strongest force is that now in home waters on the Eastern seaboard, under the command of Rear-Admiral F. M. Bunce, and known as the North Atlantic Squadron. It comprises the Indiana, battleship; the New York (flagship), Texas, and Maine, armoured cruisers; the Columbia, Raleigh, and Cincinnati, protected cruisers; with the Montgomery and Dolphin. The Indiana is one of three similar battleships, her sisters being the Massachusetts and Oregon. They are each of 10,288 tons displacement, are designed to have a speed of about 16 knots, and carry an armament of which the principal guns are four of 13-in., eight of 8-in., and four of 6-in. calibre. These ships are well protected and are not unlike in their general characteristics the Royal Sovereign class. Of the three armoured cruisers the New York is the heaviest, being of 8,500 tons of displacement, but the Maine and Texas, each of about 6,500 tons displacement, might more properly be classed as battleships. They are heavily armed for their displacement, the Texas having two 12-in., and the Maine four 10-in. guns. The New York carries six 8-in. guns as her heaviest ordnance. The Columbia, of 7,475 tons displacement, is the well-known "commerce destroyer", and the Raleigh and Cincinnati are sister ships of 3,183 tons of displacement each.

The Amphitrite is the only modern monitor yet ready. She has been placed in commission, and, according to one report, is also to join Admiral Bunce's flag.

The South Atlantic Squadron has its head-quarters at Rio de Janeiro or Montevideo, and consists of three vessels, of which only one need be mentioned. This is the Newark, a protected cruiser of 4,083 tons displacement, flying the flag of Rear-Admiral C. S. Norton. The Newark, Baltimore, Charleston, Philadelphia, and San Francisco form a group of protected cruisers which do not differ in important particulars from similar vessels of the same displacements owned by other naval Powers. Taken as a group, they may be said to be of the Esmeralda type. The other ships on this station are the Castine and Yantic.

In European waters there are three vessels—the Minneapolis, a sister to the Columbia; the San Francisco, already mentioned, and flying the flag of Rear-Admiral T. O. Selfridge; and the Marblehead, which, like the Montgomery in the North Atlantic, is of 2,000 tons displacement, but has very slight protection for vital parts and crew.

On the Pacific Station there are two important vessels, the Philadelphia and the Monterey; while the Baltimore, another protected cruiser, is now on her way home to San Francisco from Yokohama. The Monterey is a coast defence battleship of 4,138 tons displacement.

In Asiatic waters the United States Navy is represented by six vessels, of which two only, the Olympia, a smaller edition of the Columbia, and the Charleston, a sister to the San Francisco, are of importance, the others being gunboats or only valuable for river work.

It will be seen from the above brief description that, while by no means despicable in battleworthiness considered as individual ships, the available fleet of the United States is so distributed as to materially diminish its fighting value, while in point of numbers it is scarcely more than equal to a single squadron such as several European nations place annually in commission for purposes of exercise and training.

In the following table the more important vessels of the United States navy are classified:—

			in,	in.
Battleships—
Iowa	11410	11000	4	12 8 8
			6	4
Oregon	10288	9000	4	13 8 8
Massachusetts			4	6
Indiana
Monterey	4138	5450	2	12 2 10
Armoured Cruisers—
Texas	6300	8600	2	12 6 6
Maine	6682	9000	4	10 6 6
New York	8500	16500	6	8 12 5
Brooklyn	9250	16000	8	8 12 5
Protected Cruisers—
Olympia	3800	17250	4	8 10 5
Minneapolis	7475	21000	1	8 2 6
Columbia			8	5
Baltimore	4600	10000	4	8 6 6
Philadelphia	4413	8850	12	6
Newark	4083	8850	12	6
San Francisco	4083	10000	12	6
Charleston	4040	7000	2	8 6 6
Cincinnatti	3183	10000	1	6 10 5
Raleigh			—

In addition to the above vessels, there are the several monitors mentioned above as soon to be ready for service. The Brooklyn has been launched and the Iowa is under construction. Congress has also authorized the building of two battleships, to be of 11,500 tons displacement each. Three private firms have tendered for these vessels, but the contracts have not yet been awarded.

SANTA FE RAILWAYS.

After four longs years of negotiations, lawsuits, and goodness knows what not, the Santa Fé Government has finally made arrangements with the French Company which takes over the Government Railways extending over 1350 kilometres of narrow gauge line. This network of lines represents a Foreign Debt. By this new arrangement, the Santa Fé Government hands over all the lines, stations, rolling stock etc., to the French Company, thus freeing itself from any responsibility with regard to the existing debts, viz:—

£1,079,000	First 260 kilometres, loans redeemed.
£2,191,000	Second 560 kilometres, pending loans.
£1,975,000	New 530 kilometres 5% guarantee for 55 years.
£1,700,000	Accounts of interest and unpaid guarantee.
£6,945,000

In other words close on 7 millions sterling.

In 1894 the Province of Santa Fé handed over £600,000 in bonds on account, which the French Company will return with the coupons matured and expired in exchange for £600,000 in Funding Bonds which were issued with this object in 1892. Moreover the French Company will take over the English loans which, including capital and interest, amount to over £2,500,000.

The French Company and Bondholders will come to terms in London and Paris.

If the Company fulfills all the promises made on taking over the line and invests the Funding Bonds in finishing the works to be done, thus making Colastiné the chief port, and terminus of the network of Railways lines, then the Bondholders in London may again have some hope of seeing and pocketing even a small return on the enormous amount of capital thrown into the concern.

The network of lines, which is 1350 kilometres or 810 miles in length, was built on the 5% guarantee of the Province, and by English and French capital. The cost per kilometre was in round figures £4000.

The lawsuit which was pending has now been set aside. The several branches comprising the line are: Santa Fé to San Cristobal via Rataela, Santa Fé to Colastiné, branch to Galves, Humboldt to Soledad, Pilar to Frontera de Cordoba, Gessler to Coronda, Santa Fé to Reconquista, Colastiné to Rincon, Manuel Galvez to San Cristobal, Santa Fé to Rosario and Vera to Sábana.

DEATH OF PRINCE BATTEBNERG.

The death of Prince Battenberg, son-in-law of Queen Victoria, throws a pall over the Ashantee campaign.

Prince Henry Maurice of Battenberg was the younger son of the Grand Duke Alexander of Hesse who morganatically married a beautiful Polish lady. Prince Henry was born at Milan on the 5th of October 1858 and married Princess Beatrice, fifth daughter of Queen Victoria on the 23rd, of July 1885. He was a colonel of British volunteers and was appointed Governor of the Isle of Wight in 1889. Prince Henry was considered to be one of the best yachtsmen in England and was the holder of several valuable prizes. He leaves three sons and a daughter, viz—Prince Alexander, born in 1886; Princess Victoria, born in 1887; Prince Leopold, born in 1889; and Prince Maurice, born in 1891.

The deceased Prince's eldest brother was Prince of Bulgaria, he died a few years ago and was considered the handsomest man in Europe. He married an actress.

Prince Luis, the only surviving brother of the deceased, is an officer in the German army.

The deceased was one of the most accomplished of European princes, and a man of the most finished education. He was a great favorite amongst the educated, high class Englishmen. A musician of the best school, and an artist of acknowledged talent, he was of the same stamp and school as the lamented Prince Albert, and as scholar, artist, musician and composer had few equals in England. Owing to his German connections he was, however, never over popular with the English public, and it is presumed that, impatient of his position and anxious to secure fame and popularity, he joined the Ashantee expedition.

Strange fate, that so young, so talented and so chosen a man should leave the perfumed chambers of Windsor Castle to perish of fever on the dull and scorching shores of Africa. And it is a coincidence that when the news first reached this city of his having joined the Ashantee expedition, an English lady remarked she had a presentiment that he would share the same fate as the unfortunate Prince Imperial.

SPORT.

CRICKET.

We had an instinctive foreboding that "dia más, dia menos", the unsettled state of the weather would stir up some gall and set things generally simmering, and we were not far wrong. The following letter will we suppose start the fat-frying that played such a conspicuous part in last year's preliminaries to the North versus South. A constitutional national aversion to violent irruptions of insuppressable emotion urges as to suggest the calm perusal of the epistle in its entirety before hats are used as safety valves and the delicacy of parliamentary expression forsaken for the violent out pouring of an inscriptional torrent.

The letter runs:

Dear Sir:

It is officially announced that the South team this year will be picked by the following sub-Committee named by the Committee of the B.A.C.C:

James Gifford, (B.A.C.C.)
A. B. P. Boyd, (Flores.)
P. L. G. Bridger, (Lomas.)
J. R. Garrod, (B. A. & R. Ry.)
J. Stuart, (Hurlingham C. C.)
R. W. Anderson, Secretary.

It will strike any cricketer at first blush that 4 out of the above six have themselves pretensions, not to say actual claims, to places on the team, and then in fact such strong credentials that they would consider the laws of cricket in revolution if by any chance they did not figure. This does not look right. Every man who has pretensions to figure as a candidate should decline to force his election and though it would seem fair enough that the Senior Club should lead the way in naming the sub-Committee, and equally obviously correct that all the leading Clubs should have voice and vote, the sub-Committee is badly formed. I would suggest that the Committee should have been composed of old hands qualified to prune and select, such as

L. Carlisle.
D. J. Stokes.
F. Jacobs.
B. Gardom.

and so on. I am quite sure, gentlemen of this stamp would take the keenest interest in selecting a representative team, and thus obviate the possibility of favoritism being taxed, as it was last year, and with certainly very strong reason, with commanding the choice. I do not wish to cast any reflection on the sub-Committee, but I repeat that many I think will agree in finding that the governing Committee would have done better to select the "veterans" as the arbiters of the merits of the multitude of candidates, with

Yours captiously,
A Non Candidate.

THEATRES.

Wirth Bros take their first benefit in Buenos Aires on Saturday, and it is to be hoped that the public will assemble in their thousands, to support two men who have not only tried, but what is more, thoroughly succeeded in producing such a circus-combination as has never been seen here. In addition to the ordinary excellent programme, Miss Eugenie Taylor, so long and so favourably known in connection with Frank Brown's Company, has kindly consented to assist, and will appear in some of her most graceful acts. Also Mr. James Brett, the famous trainer, has generously come forward and will lend three of his high-jumping ponies, whose performance will be a great attraction. But this will not be all. Some of our best known amateurs, emulating the example set by many who assisted at a similar benefit given in Rosario, will make their first appearance in any circus, and Mr. H. Williams, familiarly known as Té Sol Williams is coming from Rosario purposely to assist and will once more prove that he is as capable a clown as ever appeared. Altogether this will be a most wonderful show and will no doubt be supported as it should be. To-night and to-morrow there will be ths usual performance, but at considerably reduced prices, and change of programme at each performance.

The next novelty at the San Martin will be the appearance of Ugo Biondi, the only acknowledged rival of Fregoli, who made such a success last year. Biondi has a perfectly marvellous programme with no less than 500 transformations.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was exciting enough to please the most sensation-loving mortals. Jupiter Pluvius opened the ball at late breakfast hour, with thunder, lightning, Last-Day darkness over the face of the earth and some extremely wetting rain. Then came the evening papers with their news: the death of Prince Henry of Battemberg; Dr. Quirno Costa's ultimatum; the desperate position of the Italians in Africa: the defeat of the rebels in Cuba: the alliance between Argentina and Brazil to wipe out John Bull (the goose that lays the golden eggs for both of them) and other hare-brained rumours etc. The death of Prince Henry of Battemberg gave a shock to the British community, not so much for his own sake, as he was not popular with Englishmen, as for the possible effect on the aged Queen of this terrible blow to her youngest and favourite daughter. It was more or less the poor Prince Imperial blunder over again to allow a man in such a position to join a military expedition in such a deadly climate. The news that Dr. Quirno Costa has an ultimatum in his pocket for Canon Jara's countrymen did not jar a bit on the nerves of the Gold Eagle, so we suppose there is nothing in it. Only in such hot-beds of absurdly false news as New York and Washington have become, could such a tremendous "bola" as an alliance of Argentina and Brazil against England be published or swallowed.

The heat yesterday morning before the rain came down was tremendous. Fat men staggered, gasped, puffed and tore open their shirt collars. Fat women—we didn't see any of them, so can't say. Fat and lean boys and clerks got drenched to the skin when rushing to the G. P. O. with letters for the Duchessa di Genova, which took a heavy mail. The result of the deluge was delightful, and the afternoon was the pleasantest for a long time.

This is kissing day at the Central Station. The R.M.S. Thames sails for old England, with a good lot of the two p's—passengers and produce.

Many a true word said in jest. Our versatile colleague El Diario proposes our friend and countryman Mr. Tim—beg pardon—Mr. Ned Healy, the Bolsa King, as candidate for a seat in Congress as M.C. for the Rio Negro Territory, where he is Lord of the Manor of a Principality of 120 leagues. We second the motion of our colleague with head, hands and heels.

Mr. Thornton, H. M. Chargé d'Affaires, has issued invitations to a grand banquet to the Corps Diplomatique and a select circle of friends. The dinner is given to speed two parting guests, the Austrian Minister Baron Salzberg and the Russian Minister M. de Giers, and to welcome back M. Marchand, the French Minister.

"Absit omen". The storm yesterday morning, though a real Argentine storm, was unpatriotic enough to blow down one of the small turrets and a flag-staff on the Government House.

An evening colleague is pleased to say that Lord Mayor Bunge "ne es the right man in the right place." One thing is certain; that since his lordship took office the paving stones all over the city have been the wrong stones in the wrong places.

A telegram from Rome announces that Signor Bacelli has accepted the presidency of the committee formed to erect a monument to the memory of M. Pasteur. It is indeed a piece of finest irony to elect one of the numerous Bacilli family, against whom M. Pasteur waged such unremitting warfare all his life, to be prime mover in raising a memorial to their deadly foe.

The Pabellon Argentino has lowered its "entrada" to one shinplaster for gentlemen and half that for ladies: but with the distinct understanding that in this case low prices are not to be taken as a toleration of low manners, and any persons indulging in even a semblance of the latter will be kicked out without benefit of appeal or submission of the case to the arbitration of any Court or Commissioners whomsoever.

Some people with extremely acute hearing detected another tap of the drum in the rumour afloat yesterday that the Argentine squadron at Golfo Nuevo is to remain there much longer than at first announced. There were also many odds and ends of bellicose news scattered through the morning papers, all to the same effect, viz that this country and its Pax Multa neighbours are both arming to the teeth. There is nothing particularly fresh in this news.

The "ventarron" yesterday, though it did not seem very severe, yet had sufficient strength to tear off the roof of a shed at Cuyo 3432. It crashed down on to some neighbouring wooden structures and made them into match-wood, but happily they were innocent of occupants. Unfortunately, however, some zinc sheeting attached to a broken beam also fell into a group of work-women waiting to resume work in the Primitiva Bag Factory and broke both legs of a woman, who lies in a precarious state. The roof of the "Confiteria" at the corner of Azcuenaga and Caugallo was also carried away but did no personal harm.

The Committee of the Dramatic Club desire to express their thanks to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly promised their assistance in the proposed revival of the "Pirates of Penzance," and their regret that, owing to the inability of the Chilian Cricket team to visit this country, the performance will have to be postponed.

The brilliant defence of Capitan de Fragata Don Carlos Mendez by the well-known lawyer, Dr. Jorge L. Dupuis, has been published in pamphlet form and is a great credit to the industry and erudition of the able counsel. All the charges against Commander Mendez are demolished, and the Court unanimously absolved him, also Commander Eyroa who was defended by Dr. Galiano. The charges against both naval officers were in connection with illicit seal fisheries.

There will be a fashionable marriage in Anglo-Argentine circles at the latter end of April, when Mr. Charles E. Bowers, son of the late Mr. C. S. Bowers, so well known and highly esteemed in mercantile circles in this city, will lead to the altar the charming Miss Eveline McLean, daughter of Mr. Alexander McLean, the well-known estanciero of Las Heras. We offer our congratulations to the betrothed couple.

The cyclone at Montevideo was a rouser and left us quite in the shade here as regards the money it put in circulation to repair damages. Our watchful contemporary the Montevideo Times kept its eye on it, and thus describes its antics:—"After several hours of intense heat and heavy electrical excitement, the wind burst on the city with the suddenness and violence of a tropical cyclone, accompanied by a blinding shower of dust and and then of pelting rain. The progress of the wind was marked in the streets by the rattle of slamming doors and windows and the crash of glass, just like a discharge of artillery. As nearly every one had his doors and windows open on account of the heat, they were all caught, and there is hardly a house in the city that did not suffer more or less damage on this account, all skylights were completely destroyed and partitions blown in. There was a general stampede in the streets, everyone flying to the nearest shelter. The force of the wind abated in less than an hour, though the rain continued till after midnight. Even tram and carriage traffic was almost impossible during the height of the storm. The worst sufferer was the Pavilion of the Kermesse. The zinc roof was torn off this and carried for fully a hundred yards down Calle Florida, smashing the stone baiconies of some of the houses on the way, whilst the building itself was wrecked and left in a tottering condition. In many other places roofs were destroyed, walls cracked, trees torn up by the roots, and telegraph and telephone posts broken by the hundred. It would be impossible to enumerate all these accidents, though fortunately there does not seem to have been any personal disaster, except one man drowned in the bay.',

We have, as Father of the Argentine Press, to look after so many juniors in the Editorial Bus, that we really cannot keep an eye on them all, to see whether they are at any mischief, or tumbling out of the vehicle and getting killed on the spot, as we have seen happen to so many promising editorial youngsters in our long career. The other day we thought that sedate and pious young gentleman the Gleaner was dead and buried, when lo! he suddenly turned up, as nice and clean and good as ever. Another contemporary we had not seen for a month of Sundays, the Uruguay News, suddenly made its appearance in our office yesterday. When we asked him sternly "Where may you have been, young Sir, all this time? Larking? Eh?", he laughed. We greatly fear he is not quite as steady as the Gleaner. However, we rather like larky boys: they rarely turn out bad men.

Our kith and kin in Montevideo intend to have a Lawn Tennis Tournament during Carnival, and if there is anyone, male or female, on this side of the river desirous of shining in it, Mr. H. P. Wright is the man to write to, and he will make it all right.

We're horrified beyond measure at reading in an exchange that the fashion amongst London society women now is to "smoke green-tea cigarettes and get tipsy on eau de Cologne"; and the craze is spreading to the Continent. What next?

Here's another little chapter about the great English Matrimonial Agency Joint Stock Company to which we referred the other day, and we have several more spicy ones for future publication:—"The reasons given by some applicants for desiring marriage are often curiously inadequate. A pretty girl of twenty-two, with £2,000 a year in her own right, wants a husband who lives in London, because she is "tired of a quiet country life," while one cannot help thinking that there must be something wrong about the "several young heiresses" with the arrangement of whose future the editor of The Gazette claims to have been intrusted. He keeps their photographs, no doubt, with inventories of their charms and their fortunes in a drawer, for eligible gentlemen to pick and choose from. There is commercial simplicity, at any rate, in this method of disposing of young heiresses. The success of the English male nobility in securing wealthy American matches has evidently fired the ambition of their womanhood, for "a lady of title, pretty, kind, and fond of entertaining, with a nice estate and good social connections," would like to meet a wealthy American gentleman with a view to matrimony. Who "Mrs. Sedden" may be is not specified, but "young professional gentlemen just starting in life" might do worse for themselves than by writing to her, care of "the editor," in Oxford Street, for she has "four accomplished young ladies, each of whom will have a fortune", to dispose of."

The awful state of nearly all the streets in town is now the universal theme in all circles, and Lord Mayor Bunge is the best abused man in the city. Instead of a voyage to Europe, the doctors now recommend tramway trips, as, owing to the ups and downs in the pavement the cars dance fore and aft like a ship in a storm, and sea sickness, with its consequent beneficial effects, is induced. There is a spot in Calle Rivadavia, near the market, which we have christened the Bay of Biscay, so fearful is the plunging of the cars. Further towards Flores, there is a miniature edition of Cape Horn, with the extra horrors of the damnable cow-horn, a nuisance that is as bad as ever, and which neither the Lord Mayor, the City Fathers nor the Tramway managers have the brains or common sense to suppress, in spite of the protests of the long-suffering public, as a greater abuse, as the drivers are allowed to make it, has never existed in this city of abuses.

We are sincerely glad to learn from our long-lost contemporary the Uruguay News that the British Episcopal Church Establishment at Montevideo has slightly improved its pecuniary resources within the past two years, the Trustees having been able to save $120 in the twenty-four months! This beats Minister Terry's famous savings hollow, and one of the Trustees ought to be named Minister of Finance, if Mr. Vidiella resigns.

How is it that in this tear-ahead-helter-skelter country no one, even for fun, has as yet introduced a horseless carriage? In France the problem is already solved, and the Lancet and other medical papers are trying to coax the idea, on sanitary grounds, into the slow-thinking head of that highly respectable entity the British Public.

Special Notices.

To-night at the American Church, Dr. McLaughlin will conduct the weekly service of song and prayer and scripture exposition. Subject "Christ in the Heavenly Places." All are cordially invited.

ON 'CHANGE.

Wednesday, January 22nd 1896.
Gold Premium.

FIRST RING 226.30%
SECOND RING..... 225.90%

The morning opened under the oppressive influence of the stifling weather. Members paid more attention to the thermometer and barometer than to the gold premium. The volcanic temperature acted as a stimulant to bellicose rumors, and the gong of the "clangor tubarum" resounded in the hall. All the news of Chile's fresh purchases of war material, iron-clads and cruisers, was trumped up, but to no avail, as the weather broke shortly after noon, and down came the premium under the cooling influences of the genial rain. About eight hundred thousand gold dollars changed hands at the first ring. Business for cash alone nearly amounted to four hundred thousand dollars, the bears returning to the speculative charge with heavy cash supplies of the precious metal; the premium opened at 226.20%, fell to 226%, rose to 226.40%, and closed at 226.30%. A quarter of a million was sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 226.50%, rose to 227%, and closed at 226.80%—contango falling back again to 50 cents One hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of February; the premium opened at 229%, rose to 229.50%, and closed at 229.30%, three points contango. Something was done for end of March at 231% and 231.50%. The market closed with a flattening tendency all round; the premium seemed to fall under its own weight.

National Cedulas F fell to 77.80 and La Plata Cedulas to 17.20. A few shares of the Spanish Bank changed hands at 111.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

The Gold King was warmly congratulated to-day on his candidature for a seat in Congress. He is a leading member of the Roquista party, and all his colleagues at the ring will vote for him like one man. We have no doubt that he will figure as conspicuonsly in Congress as he does on'Change, and he is one of the many who believe that General Roca is the best man to govern the republic. The whole Bolsa will vote for Mr. Edward Healy. From the Deputy's seat in Congress to the cushions of the Finance Office is but a step—excelsior!

The announcement that Glynn Mills have taken up the Uruguayan loan for a million sterling has produced an excellent impression on'Change. For the first time since 1890 a River Plate republic has succeeded in doing an operation of this kind. The Borda Government in the Mount are to be congratulated on breaking the spell that throttled the credit of the Plate. We have a kind of presentiment that our Financial Sphinx will follow with a loan for £5,000,000 stg. The signs in the financial sky are prosperous and point in that direction. Yet, we confess to some misgivings. We are waiting for cables to tell us at what price this Uruguayan Loan has been taken up by the bankers.

Another pleasing piece of news is the final settlement of the question about the Santa Fé Provincial Railways, to which we referred in our last and with which we deal at length to-day. This most important business was a kind of triangular duel involving interests to the amount of over 6 millions sterling. The Santa Fé Government is freed from all obligations and the railways go over to the French Company who must settle all claims with the English bondholders. Santa Fé is to be envied; she has a clean board before her now and a flush treasury. If Mr. Sanford carry through his debt settlement we may quote the classical broker:—

"Bella gerat Romero! tu felix Leiva, nube!
Nam quae Sphinx aliis, dat tibi regna Sanford!"

There was a supremacy of good news on 'Change to-day. Telegrams from London announced a sharp rise in Funding Bonds from 75 yesterday to 75¾ this afternoon. The recent telegram about Argentine armaments had not much effect in Capel Court, although there can be no doubt that the contents of that cablegram were quite true.

In the hall this afternoon there was great discussion on the telegram from Chile in the Diario, announcing that the Argentine Minister, Dr. Quirno Costa, carried an ultimatum to the Chilian Government demanding a categorical answer, within a fortnight, whether the Chilian Government in its Limits Question with Argentina abided by the solemn treaties of 1881 and 1893, or by the policy of Barros Arana. This seems pretty stiff indeed, but we believe it is founded on truth. Formerly it was a question of the Andes or—armed peace; now it is narrowed down to Barros Arana. The upshot will be the removal of Barros Arana, and a direct settlement between Ministers Guerrero and Quirno Costa.

It is calculated that the naval armaments ordered by Chile in British navy yards alone amount to four millions sterling, an enormous figure when we consider the financial position of our West Coast neighbours, and their great straits to keep up a conversion at the rate of 18d. to the dollar. Add to this the impecunious condition of Chile, the extraordinary scarcity of labor, the efflux of gold, and general discontent, and we see that Chile is in a most awkward position. Government transports are being sent from Valparaiso to Iquique to bring down thousands of men out of work. But will they find any occupation in the South of Chile? We doubt it, unless they cross the Andes and get work in Argentina. On this side of the Andes there is a surplus of labor and a lack of hands. What a contrast, yet the two countries adjoin.

An estanciero from Carlos Casares F.C.O. writes as follows: "Camps in this neigbourhood have suffered considerably from the heavy rains, and estancieros are afraid of a bad winter outlook for the sheep. Wheat has been a fair crop but the harvesting most difficult on account of the unsettled weather. Maize looks most promising." It does sound strange to hear of the 9 de Julio camps suffering from over moisture, though of course there has been more than a stray shower of late.

At Sauce Corto, the last cyclone made things generally pretty lively, though, fortunately it confined business almost entirely to the town, doing little or no damage in the rural districts. Sundry windows gone for repairs and a couple of sheep untimely dispatched without intervention of the butcher was the total list of casualties. Crops are reported in splendid order.

Rosario advices report the locust still growing fat on the maize in the northern districts of the Province. Heat tremendous. The foreign creditors are dunning the Government to fix off the arrangements of the debt, which will give the Finance Minister food and object for a visit to this city. The Municipality is considering the ways and means of extending the electric light and gas to the suburbs. Estancieros are working themselves up to a generous pitch of indignation at the audacity of the Government striving to collect the land-tax in advance. Ruling powers are so proberbially callous that they would take half a dozen years' tax in advance—if they could possibly get it.

There seems to be a glut of Argentine meat in England at present. Cables received to-day announce 850 Argentine steers in Deptford market going off slowly, on account of the great supply of frozen meat, at 2s. 10d. to 3s. 8d. the 8 lbs., the wethers, of which there are 2313, working off at 3s. 8d. Liverpool has a stock of 420 steers and 2914 wethers, all from the Plate. Until the stock falls off business will be very slow.

What a heap of money seems to be prowling about looking for an opening! Cables from the Mount say that Glyn Mills want the Oriental Government very badly to take a round million sterling as a loan, and it seems that the Government is not disposed to rush headlong at it, in spite of the manifest lack of funds to start the bank. Many look upon the report, however, with suspicion as a Bolsa kite, hinting that if Lessa could not work up the syndicate to the required gauge, it is not very likely that Glyn Mills, who formed part of the syndicate, would handle the business alone. The Italian shipping companies have advised the export firms that all their goods must be guaranteed, a measure, we suppose, similar to that adopted with this country in regard to cereals.

Don Narciso is the man for Galway. He has unearthed another hive of gentlemen addicted to realizing property other than their own, as a lawyer would say, and in union with the Santa Fé Chief of Police has arranged a system of surveillance on the frontier that will do away effectually with the unchecked robbery that has been going on for years on the borders, to the great detriment of the estancieros. It seems that a gentleman named Ramirez who always travelled incognito when he took his walks abroad, especially if accompanying a drove to market, was caught a few days ago with a handsome batch of steers in the pink of condition, but without a proper mark. He had a certificate testifying to having purchased from a Mr. V. 97 head of cattle with certain brand, but as not one of the whole drove had the brand set forth in the document, Don Narciso smelling a tolerably sick rat, had both the apparent owner of the cattle and the presumed giver of the certificate detained for investigation. And then the whole thing leaked out. The certificate had been issued because the man who asked for it was a friend, and not a single head had gone with it. Once the thing got wind, crowds turned up who had bought and sold for Ramirez, and one honest citizen roundly stated that he had only gone into dealings with the delinquent because a police-commissary had given security for Mr. Ramirez' bona fides! With regard to the owners of the drove impounded the description of the several marks having been published, Messrs. Gmo. and Daniel Daly, Gilmour and Runciman, Gmo. Oer and Juan Mackinlay all announced that they were the interested parties, and like the honest man came into their own again, but there is a further batch of 350 head purchased by a gentleman named Gray whose original owners have not yet turned up. The Comisario that went surety for the honesty of Mr. Ramirez' ways must have got a very violent shock—if he waited for the denouement, which is doubtful. Four gentlemen taxed with complicity are partaking of state hospitality, pending the upshot.

The discounts of the bank at San Nicolas during past year were $1,270,828 whilst the exports through the port were 8,897 tons of produce, 165,378 tons of cereals, 100 tons frozen beef and 92,700 frozen wethers. From the 1st of next month the South of Santa Fé and Cordoba trains will run to San Nicolas on the Rosario line.

On the 26th, 27th and 28th inst. Balcarce will hold its rural show. Many houses from here are sending articles to show, whilst Messrs. Gibson, Aranguren, Bosch, Baye, Bell and Newton will all have their estancias well represented.

The cyclone does not seem to have visited the province of Salta as yet. Telegrams received from the province to-day report large tracts afflicted with locusts and drought. The National Mortgage Bank branch will not receive any more applications for Cedulas. There is great dearth of small emission.

Advices from Paysandú report the Carziolo barraca burnt down; loss $15,000 gold.

Exchange continued firm to-day at yesterday's rates, viz:—

48 ¼ -5/16d on London.
5.09 fcs on France.
5.10 fcs on Belgium.
4.13 mks on Germany.

The bulk of sterling bills was passed to-day at 48 5/16d. There is a hardening tendency in the situation.

Paper money is in sharp demand. Discounts were quoted at 8% hard for paper and 7% for gold.

Telegrams from Rio de Janeiro this evening quoted the exchange rate on London at 9 3/16d.

Telegrams from London are not relished by exporters of live-stock. We see that Argentine steers are selling in Deptford at 12£16 to 14£ each. This is a ruinous price, for expenses alone may be put down at £9, and the price of the beast at $33 gold. If these low prices continue in the English market, freights must go down considerably as well as the price of the animals in the "invernadas."

The gold market was comparatively active at the second ring, but the gold premium was very weak. The rumor ran round the hall that some very good (?) news had been received this afternoon from Chile, and the announcement immediately produced a bearish impression on the gold market. About two hundred thousand gold dollars were sold for to-morrow's delivery: the premium opened at 226.30%, fell away, and closed, as the bell rang, at 225.90%. At a quarter past four there were sellers of gold at 225 ¼ % for to-morrow. One hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of the month, the premium closing at 226 ¼ %. Something was done for February at 229%. National Cedulas F were firmer at 78.

The following is a summary of the operations effected to-day at the second ring:—

Same auctioneers had, however, better luck down south as a stretch of 12 leagues near Victorica in the Pampa Central was snapped up at $1.90 the hectare. This land is comprised in lots 21, 22 and 23 fraction A. section B.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Notwithstanding the heat this morning and the rain this evening, business was brisk all round, the only falling off noticed was in wheat this, however, did not affect prices, which were as firm as usual. Operations in maizes were considerable, large parcels were sold in the different ports and deposits at price which well maintain the markets. The demand for maize always exists, exporters even pay fancy prices for sound parcels. Wheat shows a certain weakness, quantities are not asked for, the tiff comes in quality, this, however, must change as the news from the colonies report severe losses. It stands to season, that if farmers leave their corn to the mercy of the weather they are obliged to suffer the consequence which of course reflects itself on the markets.

The arrivals of wool to-day reached 700,000 kilos; the sales were on a par with the arrivals, prices were the same. A parcel of wool from Mr. E. Schroeder, estancia, "Doña Juanita" in Villa Mercedes was sold at 7.17, we congratulato Mr. Schroeder on his sale, the price we consider is tip top. Passing through the markets our attention was called to a parcel of wool from the South, part of it seems washed, the rest denotes the improving spirit of the estancieros.

The telegrams from Antwerp report combed wools "type B" at 4.05; in Roubais the current rates are 4.12 francs. The competition in our markets was much firmer than in past days. We are on for a change; our markets are at last taking their time from Europe.

The following was sold in the markets:—

CONSTITUCION.

Cross Lincoln wool—13000 kilos at 10.10, 4000 do 10.00, 10000 do 8.70 and 9.00, 8000 do 8.60, 20000 do 8.50, 9000 do 8.40, 3000 do 8.

Mixed—5000 kilos at 8.50, 10000 do 8.00, 4000 do 7.90, 7000 do 7.80, 3000 do 8.00

Fine wool—5000 kilos at 8.10 to 8.40, 4500 do at 8.15, 7000 at 8.00, 15000 do 7.40, 7.50 and 7.80, 5000 do 7.20, 5000 do 7.50.

Borrega cross—5000 kilos at 9.50, 1000 at 8.70, 3000 at 7.50.

Sheepskins, consumo—60 dozen at 0.75 cts, 100 at 0.74, 50 at 0.70.

Desechos—20 dozen at 0.56, 30 at 0.50, 130 do 0.50.

Lambskins—40 dozen at 3.60, 20 do 3.40, 200 at 3.50.

Cow hides, "consumo"—800 at $9.50, 50 do 9.30, 100 do 9.40, 300 do 9.00 and 9.10.

Horse hair—200 kilos at 15.00.

Various hides, 'Becerro and Nonato'—50 hides at 8.50.

Several important sales were made in maize, the laxity of the past days has disappeared, making place for a fresh animation; the changes in this article are so sudden that it requires all one's attention to follow the market, the pricipal sales were: 7,500 bags yellow maize, in the Riachuelo at 3.45, 800 do at 3.50, in the Catalinas and Boca 8000 bags were picked up at 3.20, 3.30 and 3.45. From the various ports on the river about 1000 tons were sold at 3.30; in the Once, exporters paid for 'morocho' 3 and 3.20 and for yellow up to 3.25. Prices in wheat were a little slacker, the 'consumo' paying 7.80 for superior barleta and 7.70 for French, a lot from Santa Fé was sold at 7.75 the 100 kilos, a very special parcel fetched 8.15. A sale of 1000 tons of linseed at 3.10 gold was also reported. The late rains have put a great stop both to arrivals and transactions. A number of colonists are willing to enter into contracts, but exporters only look at them with one eye. As they have suffered severe losses by the past storms, they think twice before they enter into any negotiations; referring to sales here we have little to say, the few parcels that arrive are at once picked up, leaving no room for competition.

An exchange from Canada gives us the following iems respecting the crops:—

The Manitoba Government yesterday issued its last crop bulletin. The total wheat acreage is shown to have been 1,140,276, from which 31,775,038 bushels were raised, an average of nearly 28 bushels per acre. The total grain crop was 61,366,472 bushels, nearly four million bushels in excess of the Government's estimate. The total crop of roots and potatoes was 6,327,845 bushels. Five thousand hands from Ontario assisted in garnering the crop, and were paid $400,000 by the farmers in wages.

Business in cereals was rather reduced in Rosario. The old cry—"rain!" pealed through the markets and deposits, throwing a wet blanket on everything and leaving a marked depression on all business. Exporters also do not try to sustain the situation, evidently: they are waiting for a fall in the current rates. However, as the telegraphic news from Europe show no decline, owners of produce refuse to let go, especially those who have parcels on hand. A lot of 1250 bags middling class wheat was sold at 6.48, to be delivered in the station before the 15th February. Another sale of 900 quintals, superior quality, was made at 6.60. Consignatarios who have already received consignments stand out for 6.80 and 6.90. Maize is losing its footing; not a single sale was effected. Sellers say that this is due to the great fall off in the Brazilian demand. Three small sales were reported in the evening at 2.75 and 3.15. Perhaps for the sake of the market it would be better not to report this sale, as the prices paid unsteady the market considerably. Several parcels of linseed are arriving, but we hear that they form part of previous contracts. The prices are slacker, 10.50 and 10.60 are for the moment the current ones. A superior lot of 2,500 bags was sold at 10.80. Cow-hides are commanding more interest, the demand inclining still for "matadero."

From Santa Fé we hear that flour is in a most critical position; wheat is also low. Bakers refuse to buy any fresh lots, as their calculations are that both wheat and flour will get cheaper and cheaper every day. The market closed without any reaction.

A slight falling off in wheat operations was noticed in the Montevideo markets; prices remained firm at 2.20 and 2.30. About 1200 bags, new wheat, from Canelones were sold at 2.20 and 2.25, and 1000 old at 2.25. More interest was displayed in maize to-day, Brazilian exporters entered the market with a determined air and bought up several lots at 96 cents others at 1.00, at these prices some 4,000 bags changed hands. The salt hides present no difference from yesterday. The sales on hand, which we published some days ago, have fallen through, buyer and seller not being able to come to terms. Messrs. Anaya and Irigoyen sold 100 bordalesas of tallow, for Brazil, at 9.05 the 100 kilos. Jerked beef was out of the question, it appears that the greater part of the saladeros have already sold the results of their killings, whatever else is left is held back till prices improve. There was a sale in alfalfa yesterday, 648 bales were sold at 1.20 the 100 kilos placed on board.

The animation for wools of not superior classes still continues; between yesterday and to-day, from 4 to 5,000 bundles were sold, in the various deposits, at 2.35 the 10 kilos, another sales of 13,000 id was affected at reserved prices. The other sales in the station and deposit were 10,500 kilos from Goñi at 2.35, 3,000 id from Tapia at 2.25 and 4,000 id from Minas at 2.25. The prices closed firm at these rates.

"The bright, moving picture of the country's trade, commerce and production on the opening year consoles us with the conviction that its future is superior to human error and independent of individual influence."

The above lines, quoted from THE STANDARD of 3rd inst., are the true expression of our sentiments respecting the present position and expected future of the country, if we are to judge from what has occurred to us, as a minute fraction in its common wealth, during the year that has expired, and the hopeful advent of the new one on which we have entered.

If we take our branch of trade, and instance our business in particular, we have to admit that the prospects as regards the country at large are not at all exaggerated in the transcript we have made us of, as the increase in our concern has been beyond our most sanguine expectations during the old year, and, on the eve of the new one, promise is given of a very satisfactory augmentation.

To keep pace, therefore, with this hopeful state of affairs we have made amp e provision, and our stock, which is always kept in adequate supply, will be periodically increased with every novelty to meet the increasing requirements of the year.

The National transport Villarino arrived yesterday at Patagones after a very stormy passage. She was caught in last Saturday's heavy gale between Punta Piedras and Cape San Antonio and encountered very dirty weather and heavy seas till she passed Monte Hermoso; from the latter point to the South Barrancas of the Rio Negro matters were smooth enough, but the troops on board suffered terribly from sea-sickness. The transport had on board the 8th of the line with Colonel Bellaunde and Commander Munilla—say 500 people all told. The transport is in command of Teniente de Navio Calderon, who knows the South Coast well from Cape San Antonio to the Straits. The Villarino is expected back here from Patagones with passengers and goods at the end of the week. We beg to suggest to Colonel Garcia, Chief of the Naval Staff, the necessity of keeping the Villarino on the Patagones route to meet the requirements of the army division on that river, the Limay and Neuquen.
